Vigilance Committee Formed As City Manager Asks Unity

Golf Course Support Is Requested

City Manager Hits Criticism At Council Meet

Pleading for public unification behind the municipal golf course development and asking for "the support of the entire community," City Manager Dan Wagner last night told the City Council and the public that the Palm Springs Golf Course has been a victim of "misunderstanding, backstabbing, sabotage, sniping, and hidden opposition."

"I have learned at meetings I have attended around town about the golf course, that the people want it," said Wagner.

WAGNER, WHO VERY apparently has had his fill of council arguments over the golf facility, interrupted last night's council session with a request to "make a speech" and make a speech he did.

The council had chosen a man whom they hoped would be their new golf club manager and were ready to sign a contract with him, Wagner said (his name was not released). But after his third visit to Palm Springs "to look over the situation" he failed to show up again and wrote a letter withdrawing his application.

AFTER A GREAT deal of difficulty in getting him on the telephone, Wagner said he told him that he had "changed his mind" and didn't want the job. When pressed for his reason, he said that he had been contacted by some local people who had told him not to take the job, because the golf course had quite a bit of opposition from the people and he would lose his reputation.

"This makes the operation of a good golf facility very difficult," Wagner said.

"ANOTHER BIT of criticism of the course has been founded on the belief that Palm Springs does not have a valid lease on all the land, and I want to say right now that we have a good lease on the land. The public must remember that the city is only renting the course, and if we decide to purchase it, which we can in a few years, it will have to go to a vote of the people," Wagner concluded.

The discussion was not finished. Councilwoman Mary Carlin said "if the golf course issue had gone to the public for a vote in the first place, you wouldn't be having all this trouble."

FOLLOWING THE "speech" made by the City Manager, the council voted to spend $2,710 for See COUNCIL, Page 2

HARPO'S STATION WAGON HIT, OTHER DRIVER IS CITED

CATHEDRAL CITY — A station wagon owned by Harpo Marx, one third of the famed Marx Brothers act who is a desert area resident, was damaged Tuesday in an accident in which the musician was not involved. The car, parked on Highway 111 near Van Fleet Road, was sideswiped by an auto driven by Harold L. Wieder, of 36-903 Palm View Road, Palm Springs. Marx' son, Alex, had parked the car while shopping nearby.

Wieder was cited for speeding after he explained that he lost control of his vehicle when his pet dog — riding in the car with him — distracted him.

Aid to Mentally Retarded Youth Is Planned Here

A group of Palm Springs parents, many of them with retarded children of their own, have formed the Palm Springs Foundation for Mentally Retarded Children, Incorporated.

J. M. McFadden, president of the foundation, said that the organization plans to act to meet "the alarming need for mentally handicapped children."

McFADDEN SAID that the foundation, a non-profit corporation, will serve all races, creeds and religions.

He said that the "local need for aid for mentally retarded children is most grave" and said that the foundation intends to meet this challenge with housing, training, education and recreation for the "deserving, yet forgotten, children who happen to be mentally retarded."

THE FORMATION of the organization marked the first concrete step in a long-sought program to aid and educate—to the limit of their ability to comprehend—See RETARDED, Page 2

Tahquitz Bond Sale Approved

Palm Springs City Council last night approved the sale of its $155,000 worth of McCallum-Tahquitz improvement bonds to the low bidder, Kinder, Peabody and Company of San Francisco and New York, who was low with a net interest cost of $55,307, or a per cent of 4.08169.

It will now be up to Kinder, Peabody and Company to sell the bonds and get the funds to pay for the street improvement.

There were a total of nine bids opened.

Bond Issue Committee To Be Named

Valley-Wide Group To Be Selected By College Board

PALM DESERT — A valley-wide "citizens' executive committee" is expected to be named at tonight's meeting of the Coachella Valley Junior College Board to enlist public support for the $3½ million bond issue to be voted on Oct. 13 to finance the new college.

Gail Brunwell, business manager for the college district, said today he will submit a list of names to the board for their consideration. He said the committee will consist of about 10 members.

ALTHOUGH HE DECLINED to release the candidates' names, Brunwell said they would be outstanding civic leaders representing each of the communities in the valley concerned with the college.

This afternoon the board members are scheduled to meet in Riverside with representatives of the Board of Schoolhouse Planning to discuss the preliminary drawings for the college.

Conclusion reached at the afternoon meeting will be taken up at tonight's session, according to Brunwell.

MEANWHILE, THE Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee has announced the program at its Monday night meeting at Laurie's Steak Ranch will deal largely with the problem of the bond issue election. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., the letter announcing the meeting stated.

"Because the CVAPC was partly instrumental in creating the 'College of the Desert,' our topic of the evening is most timely."

FEDERAL SUBSIDY TO AID NEW YORK FIGHT REQUESTED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Abe Stark, president of the New York City Council, today called for an emergency 100-million-dollar a year federal subsidy program to combat teen-age crime and violence.

Stark's appeal to the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee was made only a few hours after Bronx police broke up preparations for a gang rumble.

'Kiss Me Kate'

New Attendance Record Is Set

Attendance records for the month of September in the Chi Chi have been broken dramatically and conclusively by Martin Beck's PlayStage production of "Kiss Me Kate," the night club announced today.

The play, which has run for four consecutive weekends, has again been held over and will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week.

PLAYSTAGE HAS been responsible for such Village innovations as the first production of a Eugene O'Neill play, a record-breaking run — more than a half dozen performances — of "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter," and the initial presentation in this county of Jean Paul Sartre's highly-controversial "The Respectful Prostitute."

In its production of "Kiss Me Kate," however, the organization attempted for the first time a musical comedy.

Now a permanent Villager, Lawrence lives here with his wife, Lavilla, and sons, Gerry, 16, and Terry, 17.

Quake Jolts Honshu Today

KOFU, Japan — (UPI) — A severe earthquake jolted Honshu Island on a 200-mile front today but no major damage or casualties were reported.

"I think the people were more frightened than anything else," a police spokesman said. He said many rushed out of their homes when the tremor hit.

Businessmen Hope to Aid Good Growth

Organizational Meeting Held Here Last Night

A group of Village businessmen announced today the formation of the Palm Springs Vigilance Committee, a watchdog organization designed to aid the orderly growth of this community.

Robert Hill and William Malhotra, two of the leaders of the PSVC, said that more than two score "small businessmen" of Palm Springs attended the formation meeting last night at Elks Club here.

ALTHOUGH NOT specifically spelled out in a release today, the forming of the organization was motivated, it was rumored, by the handling of the Palm Springs Golf Course situation.

At the meeting it was clearly explained that the organization was being formed with a basis upon which the group could set a preliminary policy and organizational proposal for a businessmen's association of businessmen's civil league.

IT WOULD BE dedicated to investigate various matters of public interest, shed light on the findings of their investigation through publicity, "and thereby endeavor to achieve a proper development of Palm Springs in a business-like manner for the common good of the citizens."

Although an attempt to discuss present problems facing the city was made, such discussions at the first meeting were discouraged, in order to limit action to the formation of the organization.

IN A STATEMENT issued by the group today, they said they wanted it made clear the motivation of the organization.

The organization is not a recall move, nor an outgrowth of any recent adverse publicity; nor were they associated with only recently formed "Vigilante Group."

Instead, they said, they are businessmen of Palm Springs who recognize the dire need for help and guidance by the city in solving the vast problems which accompany the present growth of the city.

The group will meet again next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Elks Club. All small businessmen are invited to attend.

Chamber Backs Bonds, Takes No Action on Site

Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce board today passed by majority vote a resolution backing the College of the Desert bond issue at the Oct. 13 election, but declined to take action on the site controversy.

A committee named by Chamber President Warren Slaughter to investigate the site dispute between the college board of trustees and Hank Gogerty and his Desert Air Park, came in with a split recommendation. The board also itself was split on the subject, with no action taken.

A resolution backing the bond issue of the Palm Springs Unified School District, also scheduled for an Oct. 13 vote, was adopted in separate action by the board.

Driver to Be Cited Following Fatal Accident

INDIO — Misdemeanor manslaughter charges will be filed against a driver involved in a two-car collision that brought death to a Glendale woman early yesterday morning in Yucca Valley.

Named in the complaint is Maxine M. Richards, 47, of Los Angeles.

THE WOMAN was the driver of the car carrying Eleanor Brice Logan, 48, of Glendale, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Ince Hospital in Twentynine Palms.

Mrs. Richards was injured in the accident along with the driver of the other vehicle, Bobby Gene Small, 26, of 928 Calle Tomas, Palm Springs.

Both were admitted to the Ince Hospital.

THE INTERSECTION crash occurred on Twentynine Palms Highway at Old Woman Springs Road at 2:45 a. m., Wednesday.

Highway Patrol officials indicated that Mrs. Richards would be cited on a misdemeanor manslaughter charge stemming from right-of-way violation at the point of the accident.

Due to Strike

Mitchell May Have to Eat Hat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The odds are increasing that Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will be called upon to eat his hat.

Labor Department economists said today chances were growing summer each day the steel strike continues that unemployment in October will fall below three million.

MITCHELL, PREDICTING that it would decline below this level, pledged to an AFL-CIO unemployment rally last April that he would eat his hat if his forecast did not come true.

The secretary has been silent on his five-month-old promise recently, but it's a topic of lively interest among the statisticians who work on the monthly job report.

UNEMPLOYMENT was estimated at 3,426,000 in August, the latest figures available. Normally it would decline in September and hit its yearly low in October.

But the steel strike has disrupted "normal" trends because of its job-destroying secondary effects in steel-using and steel-serving industries. This is true even though the 500,000 strikers are counted as having jobs.

AS A RESULT, Mitchell's in trouble. Even if the strike ended abruptly, it might take some time for laid-off workers to be recalled.

And there's no guarantee that the strike will end in the immediate future. Federal mediators have reported "absolutely no progress" in negotiations since it began last July 15.

RALLY EXPECTED TO BE LARGEST

Palm Springs Trailer Rally Director Paul E. Harrison today forecast a record-breaking attendance for the 1959 edition of the resort city's annual tribute to trailerdom.

Harrison said that advance registrations of hundreds of trailers are a full month ahead of last year's roster, indicating that the attendance mark may well soar far above the 6,000 registered in 1958.

THE THREE-DAY rally, which attracts individual mobile home owners and entire trailer clubs from all parts of the nation, gets under way at the Palm Springs Polo Grounds Oct. 23.

This year's rally and Mobile Home Show is also combined with

School Board To Meet Tonight

Palm Springs Board of Education members will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the Palm Springs High School music room.

Agenda items include approval of plans for a high school fire alarm system, consideration of radio broadcasts of high school football games and consideration of a request by Joan Wilcox for use of the high school auditorium.

A personnel session and study session will follow the regular meeting.

the Sportsman's Show, a new addition which is expected to attract still more resort visitors.

Harrison said today that more than 200 reservations have been received for space in Lineau Village, which is traditionally converted into a temporary park for rally visitors.

MANY MORE trailers will be accommodated by the 28 trailer parks belonging to the sponsoring Palm Springs Trailer Parks Association, Inc.

At least one trailer club, the Fullerton group, has sold all its reservations and is expected to call for more. Harrison said this is indicative of the tremendous response to the Palm Springs rally.

He added that response from dealers in boats and sporting See TRAILER, Page 3

Explosion Ends Moon Shot Hope

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — An Atlas-Able rocket being prepared for a shot at the moon early next month blew up on the cape this morning.

The four-stage combination exploded during a static test. Officials said there were no injuries.

The accident apparently eliminated any chance that a moon shot would be made from here early in October, when the lunar body makes another close approach to the earth of about 219,000 miles.

The Air Force said cause of the explosion was being investigated.

NIKITA VISITS STEEL PLANT, GETS CIGAR FROM WORKER

PITTSBURGH — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was handed a cigar by a steel mill workman today. He accepted it, then took off his expensive wristwatch and handed it to the cigar donor.

The American was Kenneth Jackey, 45, an attendant in the tool storeroom at the Mesta Machine Co.

JACKY SAID IT was a "spur of the moment thing."

"Last night I bought a box of El Verso cigars and figured as long as he was coming to our plant I was going to try to give him a cigar. I never figured the security people would let me get that close to him."

"I went up to him and handed him the cigar. It was just like that. First, he gave me a medal showing a rocket hitting the moon."

"HE WALKED AWAY, but stopped and took off his wrist watch and gave it to me. One of the interpreters said 'He wants you to have this and he says God bless you. Then Khrushchev and I put our arms around each other.'

"Everybody in the plant is coming around to see the watch."

"I think I'm going to save it for my son, William, who is 11. Until then, I'm going to wear it. I'm wearing it now."

"This is a once in a lifetime thing. It's hard for me to believe it."

AT WASHINGTON the White House announced today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has cancelled plans to tour the National Institutes of Health here Friday so he can devote that time to preparing for his weekend meeting with President Eisenhower.

At the same time, there seemed to be increasing evidence at the White House that the President might report to the American people on his talks with Khrushchev at Camp David, Md., shortly after their conclusion Sunday.

EARLIER TODAY, Pennsylvania Gov. David L. Lawrence, one of the top Democrats in the East, told Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev today that president Eisenhower speaks for a united country in the field of foreign relations.

"In America, politics stop at the water's edge," the Pennsylvania chief executive said.

IN SAN FRANCISCO meanwhile, former Hungarian Freedom Fighter Ferenc Iszak, who was found brutally beaten in Golden Gate Park, said today he couldn't name his assailants—but police said he was "obviously holding out on us."

They stepped up their investigation of a case that was taking on the aura of an international mystery.

Stevenson Optimistic After Talk

Tells Reaction Of Discussion With Khrushchev

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Adlai E. Stevenson said today he believes Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is willing to negotiate for an inspection program for world disarmament.

Stevenson had a farmyard chat with Khrushchev at Coon Rapids, Iowa, Wednesday, a conference which brought the first hint that a turning point might have been reached in the Premier's U. S. tour and that he would be willing to take part in negotiations for a disarmament inspection program.

IN A BRIEF statement today, Stevenson said he thought Khrushchev "is serious and wants to reduce the burdened nature of armaments step by step with simultaneous inspection and control appropriate to each step."

"At least his proposals should be carefully considered and not dismissed as propaganda."

STEVENSON, TWICE Democratic candidate for president, talked with Khrushchev in the relaxed atmosphere of a farm lunch party.

ACQUIRING WORKS OF ART DIFFICULT

This is the last in a three-article series that details the manner in which Village merchant Cecil Bennett acquires the famed store of Indian arts and artifacts in her shop here.

By JOAN WILCOXON
Indian jewelry comes to its final owner through many hands. The artist rarely sells his own work.

There are two reasons for this; first, he is often too poor. He cannot afford to buy the silver and turquoise for the piece he has designed, but the trader will supply him on credit.

SECONDLY, MANY silversmiths live miles from the centers of trade, over pot-hole roads even the staunchest pick-ups cannot travel. He must bring his work to a commercial market. Again the trader is necessary. He will sell the piece for him or generally buy it outright. Now, the trader must sell it to a customer or more often to a retail market.

Here Cecil Bennett comes in. She will buy wholesale from the reservation trader for her shop in Palm Springs. It's a four way deal to the final customer, with two middle men — the reservation trader and the out-of-reservation trader.

CECIL BENNETT is "different," as Sheehorn said. She is a "trader" herself. For Cecil Bennett, unlike all the other white traders, is also a craftsman. The beautiful sterling silver charms worn on bracelets set with turquoise, sold in shops all over the country are the work of her hands. They can always be distinguished from the pot-metal junk that might lie beside them.

To the eye of any intelligent buyer, the rich metal and real stone together with the workmanship defy comparison. Cecil Bennett trades her charms for Navajo and Zuni jewelry. She never pays cash!

BUT THERE ARE other arts which attract her eye for beauty for which she willingly pays; the marble luster black pottery of Rose or Maria Martinez, famous potters of San Ildefonso; the medieval fetishes and clay masterpieces dug from the tombs in Venauela and Yucatan, many over a thousand years old; the Hopi bowls and animals in natural creamy clay decorated with earth brown paint, traditional with these proud artistic people; and the rugs woven outside the hogans by such renown artists as Mable Burnside Myers, each color hand dyed from the plants and herbs of the barren land.

For three days and nights Cecil Bennett walks the Arts and Crafts Exhibition Hall adjacent to the fair grounds where twice daily the ceremonial dances and songs are performed for countless thousands of spectators. She visits every booth, palavers endlessly, examining, admiring, judging the prize winning displays.

SHE IS KNOWN to every exhibitor, both Indian and white, and loved by them all, and she brings with her a year's stories to break the monotony — how well loved was the concha belt made by Ambrose Roanhorse now proudly worn by Yul Brunner; how much Stewart Granger liked the squash blossom necklace she brought back for his wife.

And the traders swap with their yards — what will they do when Number 8 spiderweb runs out (it's harder to get every year), the old smiths are dying off and the new ones take forever to finish a piece, and sometimes they are temperamental and demanding; the difficulty of selling modern designs no matter how novel—everybody wants the old and the young artists want to explore.

AND SO IT GOES, hour after hour in the tightly-packed, milling crowd, everybody talking and laughing and apparently buying nothing.

Indians press close to Cecil to admire her priceless spiderweb squash necklace. She is never too tired or too rushed to return a courteous "ya-ha-te" or place in the knarled red hands of some admirer the rare piece she is wearing that day.

But it is this very warmth and friendliness, this lack of commercial push, this sincere interest in the lives and works of other people that brings Cecil Bennett back to her shop in Palm Springs richer for the year, her car stocked with thousands of commercial dollars worth of the beauty she cannot live without.

Israel Maps U.N. Rap of Suez Problem

Arab Decision To Block Waterway May Bring Appeal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (UPI) — Israel planned a full-throated attack in the U.N. General Assembly today on the refusal of the United Arab Republic to permit Israeli shipping to use the Suez Canal.

Informed sources said Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir would pull no punches in the attack on the policy of the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

THE CUBAN REGIME of Premier Fidel Castro was scheduled to be heard for the first time in the U. N. Assembly's debate with Minister of State Raul Roa listed to lead off this morning's proceedings. There was no prior indication of the contents of his speech.

U.N. sources said Mrs. Meir is expected to tell the assembly that it is difficult to understand the bellicose attitude of the Arab world toward Israel in these days of friendly overtures between the Soviets and the West.

THE FORMER Milwaukee school-teacher also is expected to contrast the anti-Israeli propaganda emanating from Cairo with the talks about to start between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower on possible easing of the cold war.

The sources said Mrs. Meir will trace the history of the U.A.R.'s refusal to grant Suez passage to Israeli ships and cargoes, and will tell the assembly that the Nasser government's defiance of international law, treaty obligations and decisions of the Security Council was a matter with which the United Nations must deal.

The U.A.R. claims the right to stop and seize Israeli ships and cargoes bound to or from the Jewish state on the ground that a state of war still exists.

New Innovation For 'Adventures In Living' Group

A new innovation will be introduced when the Palm Springs "Adventures in Living" series recommences here on Oct. 15, it was announced today.

John Robert Clarke, founder and director of the series, said that the 10-lecture series will be made available free to a friend of a regular member.

"If you are in attendance at 'Adventures in Living,' Clarke said, "you may bring along one or several 'first-timers' on the ticket you purchase."

The 1959-60 series here will mark the second year of Clarke's lectures in the Village. He has been engaged in such activity for 16 years in San Diego.

The Oct. 15 program will begin at 8 p.m., break for coffee at 9:10 p.m., and rejoin in the Clarke "Great Circle" discussion period at 9:30 p.m. The series is held in the Desert Inn here.

They also approved a low bid from Hicks and Allred of $9,628.25 for paving of an access road and parking area at the golf course. The only other bidder was J. & S. Paving at $13,508.24. The engineers estimate on the job was $9,777.

Over the objection of Councilwoman Mary Carlin, the council approved the use of the DeMuth Park fund for the purchase of golf carts for the course, saying that the money would be paid back to the fund within 18 months, making it available for the construction of the new DeMuth Park near the Veterans Tract.

ON THIS SUBJECT there was a protest issued by the Parks and Recreation Board that they were not given the privilege of board discussion on the plan to use these funds. Board Member Muriel Fulton represented four members in the protest.

However, after a discussion of the matter, the protest was withdrawn, subject to putting a time limit on the loan for its repayment.

Mrs. Carlin cast a "no" vote on the borrowing of the money and qualified her vote by addressing Mrs. Fulton and saying "you'll be lucky if you get it back in 18 months."

Churchill Rushes to Aid Conservatives

84-Year-Old Leader
Quits Retirement
Battles for Cause

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill charged out of semi-retirement with oratorical guns blazing Wednesday night to come to the aid of his worried Conservative party.

The 84-year-old former prime minister, the oldest candidate up for a parliamentary seat in the Oct. 5 general elections, told voters in his constituency in the suburb of Woodford that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was the only man to represent Britain in forthcoming crucial summit talks.

MACMILLAN AND the Conservative Party, which began the election campaign with a comfortable edge over the Laborites, are reported "running scared" in their bid for re-election because public opinion polls and private reports showed an alarming drop in Conservative popularity.

Churchill, wearing his usual black overcoat, black Homburg, cigar and fiercely benign expression, made one of his rare public appearances to demand that the voters keep his party in power.

Two new members of the board of directors will be elected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its general membership meeting at the American Legion hall tonight. One also will be named secretary.

Eligible to serve are Bud Brewer, Dr. Harvey Cohen, Larry Coulton, Jim Hollowell, Dr. John Lake, Johnny Martin and Hy Ranes.

New projects will be brought before the membership, and a speaker will discuss the Palm Springs Unified School District and Junior College bond elections.

New Publicity Program to Be Told Chamber

PALM DESERT — Representatives of a Beverly Hills advertising firm will appear at the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce meeting at 5 p.m. tomorrow to propose a comprehensive public relations plan for the greater Palm Desert area.

Hal Kapp, chamber president, called the program a "very ambitious one" and said it would be built around a "symbol" which will be publicized as standing for Palm Desert. The nature of the "symbol" will be revealed at the meeting.

Proposing the plan will be the Kennedy-Walker Advertising Co. It will be represented by Earl Kennedy and Millie Iverson, local official of the firm.

The plan has already been approved by the chamber board of directors, Kapp added. At present, Palm Desert has a population of between 3,000 and 3,500.

The meeting will be held at the old post office building.

Medical Meeting Set at Riverside

RIVERSIDE — One of two regional conferences on physicians and schools sponsored by the California Medical Association will be held at the Mission Inn in Riverside on Oct. 2-3.

This conference will bring together physicians from the southern part of the state and school personnel serving in administrative capacities for practical discussions on the need for improving communications and on the health of school personnel. These topics will be presented by panels and guest speakers and will then be discussed in small groups for individual participation.

goods indicates that the new Sportsman's Show will have more than enough exhibits to ensure its success.

TRADITIONALLY, THE rally is dedicated to a showing of the latest in trailers and mobile home equipment. Scores of manufacturers will cover the Polo Grounds parking areas with displays of their wares.

But there is more to the rally than trailer exhibitions. A full, three-day program on recreation, including chuckwagon breakfasts and a lengthy schedule of entertainment, has been posted by the rally committee.

IN ADDITION, the committee is offering a new 16 foot Jewel trailer as the first grand door prize for rally visitors. The trailer is offered jointly by the committee, the Jewel Trailer Industries and Palms Trailer and Boat Sales, Harrison said.

Square dancing also occupies a heavy portion of the entertainment program and dance fans will be led through their paces in the Palm Springs Playhouse by expert caller Jimmy Morris, ed in 1958.

DHS Lions Club Sets Program for White Cane Days

U.S. Scientist Lauds Russian Moon Rocket

Rocket May Aid
Knowledge of Earth
Structure, Report

WASHINGTON — UPI — An astronomer said today that reported findings by Russia's lunar rocket appear to be of "tremendous importance" to understanding of the earth's structure as well as the moon's.

He and other scientists said the Soviet data also appear to prove that the moon does possess an atmosphere, albeit a thin one.

THE ASTRONOMER, Dr. Gerhard G. Schilling of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said he has not yet seen any scientific report on the data dispatched by Lunik II before it crashed into the moon Sept. 13.

Put on the basis of news dispatches from Moscow, Lunik's findings apparently confirm belief that to possess a strong magnetic field a heavenly body must have a molten, fluid core, Schilling said.

ACCORDING TO Soviet scientists the moon, believed to have a solid rock core, has no magnetic field appreciable enough to register on instruments like those aboard Lunik II.

If Lunik had found a fairly strong magnetic field around the moon, it would have upset a whole body of theory about the structure and formation of the earth and other planets.

THE RUSSIANS also reported Lunik found an increasing concentration of ionized (charged) particles within about 6,200 miles of the moon.

Schilling said this appears to establish that the moon possesses an atmosphere of sorts. He called the Lunik information "most definitely valuable" but said he expects more complete data from planned U.S. moon rockets.

Municipal Golf Course Benefits Great But Economy Best Policy

Whatever the differences among members of the City Council regarding its operation, the municipal golf course is a valuable added feature for Palm Springs.

This should not be lost sight of, and since it is an entirely new type of civic venture a considerable spread in speculative opinions of the members as to its eventual revenues and expenses is not unexpected.

The same is true during preparation for the opening of a business enterprise by any group of people in the world of private business.

The difference is that municipal operations of all kinds are subject to public scrutiny, particularly those in which the matter of profit or loss is involved as a concern of taxpayers. In such cases the public is entitled to full reports on all actions, plans and comments of all concerned.

It is not only the right but likewise the wisest policy for City officials to consider and "air" all sides of perplexing problems to the end that the people be fully cognizant of the difficulties to be solved. Whether all goes as well as expected—or not—the well informed are much more apt to understand and appreciate the efforts extended.

The majority of local residents are convinced that the municipal golf course is an excellent thing for the community. Of necessity its establishment will require extra funds, work and planning on the part of all concerned. Time alone can prove how many calculations were near or far from being correct. But in the general view, changes can be made as found advisable, and within a year or two the goal of self support attained or definitely determined.

The main thing at the moment is that the course be operated as economically as possible on at least a "trial" basis from which more positive conclusions can be drawn.

The Third Man (R)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Maybe it isn't entirely meaningless that UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has swung back into the public pen during the Khrushchev visit.

We've gone on the assumption that the GOP has only two worthy contestants, Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller, to succeed President Eisenhower, while the Democrats have a whole bagful. It has gone almost unnoticed that the Republicans elected some excellent governors in last year's Democratic landslide—Hark Hatfield of Oregon, Chris Del Sesto of Rhode Island, Paul Fannin of Arizona, to which list should be added the youthful holdover in West Virginia, Cecil Underwood.

BUT LODGE, A three-term Massachusetts Senator before his defeat by Jack Kennedy in '32, stands out above those fledglings as a veteran of the campaign trails, and for the past six years as our almost-daily sparring partner against the Russian representatives in the UN.

Fittingly enough, Lodge was recently brought to mind when a Democratic Senator loosed an unprovoked, irrational and perhaps fearful attack upon the Ambassador as Ike's choice to be Khrushchev's transcontinental escort. Senator Gore of Tennessee, who rates as one of the Southern liberals, called the appointment "ill-advised" the Ambassador "inept" and then cited an instance as proof of his points.

THIS WAS the incidence, and I was there when it happened. In February, 1953, Ambassador Lodge was good enough to invite me to attend the opening session of the UN and to be his guest at a pre-ceremonial luncheon.

Among other guests was the New York Democratic Congresswoman Edna Kelly who, I'm sure, will refresh my memory if it should slip. There was some table talk about opening the sessions with prayer, to which the Russians objected and which Lodge strongly favored.

THEN LODGE heaved a sigh and remarked that some photographers were waiting for him to go to the floor and enact a formality started by the Democratic appointed UN Ambassadors—a handshake with the Russian representative who that year was the late Andrei Vishinsky. With the Korean War still on, this seemed a bit of mockery. Speaking in all probability out of turn, I said to the Ambassador:

"IF YOU WANT to make some news and to demonstrate that a new Administration has taken over, why not refuse to shake Vishinsky's hand?"

Well, maybe this was already in Lodge's mind, but anyhow that's what he did. The snubbing of the Russian got quite a play in the newspapers. In Washington it was denounced by two Liberal Senators, Gore and Morse, as well as by a Liberal Journal, the Washington Post. On the day before Khrushchev's arrival last week, Gore addressed the staggering Senate in one of its late hours and came out against Lodge as Big K's escort.

WHILE GORE never intended it as such, his speech may be tagged an accidental nomination test of Lodge for the GOP national ticket. The Republican convention and the American people may feel, as I do, that Lodge signalled one of the most significant policy changes in our day. Up till then the UN meetings were the occasion of fraternizing with Stalin's men, and perhaps this flowed from President Truman's pre-Korean comment that "I like Old Joe."

Lodge gave Old Man Joe's man the brush-off as only a gentleman knows how to do it. On the Khrushchev tour Lodge to date has been cool, correct and courteous, which is precision itself. I would think, in demonstrating the American people's feelings toward the visitor.

LODGE, BORN in 1902, when his famous grandfather and namesake was Mr. Republican of the day, comes into the political picture at a time which is quite propitious. The 86th Congress did not help the reputation of the leading Democratic aspirants for President.

As to the Republicans, Vice President Nixon, the toast of the town when he made his Russian safari, is currently a yesterday's hero, although that status is never stationary. Governor Rockefeller rang the bell with his son's marriage, and he gets my "Atta boy!" for his realistic take-charge in the juvenile crime wave of his State.

BUT A LOT of Republicans have some reservations about Nixon (can he turn out a Democratic vote?) and Rockefeller (What's a New Dealer doing in our party?).

Lodge has executed the historic withdrawal-and-return which is said to be essential in a national leader's career. And everybody who sees Khrushchev on this trip is going to see Lodge also.

De Gaulle Makes Boldest Move

French President Charles de Gaulle has made his boldest move to restore peace to revolted Algeria.

The question now is will it work?

There is general agreement that de Gaulle is the only man in France who could have offered the Algerians self-determination, meaning complete independence, if they so desire, and gotten away with it.

AND EVEN HE probably couldn't have done it without the backing of the new French constitution which took away from the quarrelling French deputies the right to topple governments at will or prevent legislation simply by their own inability to agree.

Self-determination, de Gaulle said, would come not later than four years "after the effective return of peace."

Militarily, the French now feel they have the upper hand in Algeria, with no sizeable areas any longer under rebel control.

BUT IT WAS AN indication of the deplorable state of affairs in Algeria that de Gaulle could define peace as a state in which no more than 200 persons per year were killed in ambushes and attacks.

De Gaulle saw three possibi-ties for the Algerians: outright secession; complete "Frenchification" as a part of metropolitan France or a government of Algerians within the framework of the French community to which other areas of former French-held Africa now belong.

The Algerian revolt has been the source of steadily increasing irritations between France and her NATO allies.

THE REVOLT forced France to go back on her commitments to NATO and to place the cream of her army in Africa.

On her side, France accused the Western allies of failing to understand French problems.

De Gaulle still is far from being out of the woods.

The French already have said they will boycott any debate on the subject in the United Nations. But they desperately need support, and for this they are looking to the United States.

There also is evidence the French army in Algeria does not wholly back the de Gaulle plan. On the night following de Gaulle's announcement army patrols went through Algiers pasting up posters proclaiming "Algeria forever French."—Phil Newsom.

Burning Up the Tires

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

Will wonders never cease? They won't, of that I'm sure I saw an ad the other day Touting perfumed manure.

Having exhausted the sports sections of two Sunday newspapers, read all the editorials, looked over the comics and digested the features, I still had some time before the Dodgers and Giants were scheduled to come in on the video.

LOOKING AROUND for some more reading matter, I found a pretty colored brochure from a Gift House which had come addressed to Mrs. G. Christmas suggestions, you know.

Turned the pages idly figuring they might have some pictures of electric trains when I came upon an advertisement that smacked me squarely in the eyes.

THERE, IN BOLD PRINT, illustrated yet, it suggested the ideal gift for the homebody who has a green thumb.

"Perfumed manure," it said. "Handy, just what the housewife will want. It will amuse, amaze and dazzle her."

An ideal Christmas gift. I laid the brochure down and began to envision such a gift.

PICTURED THE Christmas tree with all of its scintillating ornaments and gleaming lights, the green pine needles.

A pretty sight as I sat there with my eyes closed.

Until I pictured, over in one corner, a pile of manure.

Perfumed, but still manure.

THEN I TURNED BACK to the advertisement and read further. Found that the scene I had pictured was not so.

For the ad said that this perfumed manure came in seven-inch cans they called 'em tins. And was for flower boxes and flower pots around the house, indoors.

But, anyway, the advertisement gave me an idea.

HERE WE ARE already in the Fall season. They are going to plant new lawns all around town within a week or so.

If they can perfume manure for seven-inch tins, what's the matter with perfuming a large pile?

The inventive American mind surely can come up with something like that.

Then think of the effects!

OUR LAWNS would grow green and pretty without that customary late Fall odor permeating the soft evening breezes.

Instead of the perfumed article being under the Christmas tree with a card stuck in it: "To mother, from her everlasting loving husband." It could be piled outside with the same card, of course.

AND THE EVERLASTING so-and-so could pick out his own perfume. They might even advise him in television commercials, with a pretty girl dancing around singing:

"Roses are red, violets are blue, no longer do we have to say phew."

And the sweet evening breezes would smell of jasmine, orange blossoms and the like.

Speed the day!

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

We are in between cats these fine autumn days. Too bad. It is splendid cat weather.

The rich days of fall are on the hillside and the leaves are beginning to drop. A cat can make a full day's work out of chasing a falling leaf.

THE ONLY CAT around is a tortoise shell down at our neighbors. Her name is Cinderella. She is an adequate cat, as cats go. But we really should have our own. It is a waste of autumn weather.

We have cats for awhile. Then we run out of cats. The attrition on animals around our scatter is something fierce. Speaking of the way cats go —

FREDDY OUR last Siamese, simply picked up one day and went over to live with the rich people up on the hill. Never came back. Not even to say fare-thee-well. Nice to have him.

The best cat we had was a lady Siamese. She presented us with kittens each year. Four at a time.

She had a peculiar taste in gentlemen cats.

I WOULD TAKE her over to a lady who ran a kind of cat farm. I would introduce her to a nice, compatible Siamese. A Siamese who paid his income tax and had a good job with a future.

Nothing. She HATED those Siamese. Her love belonged to a black-and-white bum who lived in the woods and never did a lick of work in his life. A ukulele player.

Most of our kittens were black and white.

They were good kittens though and we loved them dearly.

THEY WERE LEAF chasers. They also chased lizards.

The mother cat brought home lizards for them. The lizards had their tails bit off. She would bring them home and release them in the kitchen and the lizards would go under the stove.

They came out just when you were reaching for a pan full of hot water. The amount of hot water that was spilled on the floor! And the screaming! I miss all that.

A CAT ADDS a good deal of serenity to an establishment and is a great aid to a writer.

I had a wonderful Siamese named Cleo who slept beside me each morning while I was typing. I typed on the kitchen table which was in a sunny alcove.

(For some reason, I find the best places to work are always in somebody's way. Why is that?)

She came up on the table as soon as I started to work. And she curled up in the box where I kept my typing paper. Whenever I wanted a new piece of paper, I had to lift the cat up.

I FIXED HER ALL kinds of good places to sleep. Pillows, things like that.

She did not want them. She liked the box full of typing paper.

She was just like me. People would fix up all kinds of cozy places for me to work. Desks and special rooms with sound-proof walls. Pencil sharpeners. Ideal places to work.

I could not bear them. I wanted to work on the kitchen table.

WITH THIS CAT sleeping on top of the typing paper, I made fewer mistakes. I did not rip out the paper in the typewriter. Because if I did, I had to get up and lift the cat to get more paper.

This improved my work. I was more careful and not as fussy if I split an infinitive or two.

WE HAD CATS who would not sleep anywhere but on your pillow. (The cat hair made me sneeze dreadfully.) We had a cat who used to bring home quail. He would put it at my feet and walk around looking proud of himself.

We had cats that went up trees and would not come down. A cat who drank beer. A cat that used to rub in the poison oak and then come home and rub against me.

I miss them all. Especially these autumn cat days when the leaves come swirling down the golden hills.

EARL WILSON:

Tuesday Is Pretty Young

NEW YORK — Miss Tuesday Weld '66, pointed her bare left foot at me—and from her big toe she playfully dangled a large black purse.

"They're trying to make me dignified—and I'm rebelling!" announced the 16-year-old Hollywood wonderchild squirming in a roomy housecoat. Burling into the hotel about 1 p.m., she had undressed—in the next room—and got into night attire.

"My motto is 'Obey your impulses.'" She tossed her blonde hair, which she had let down, as though for bed. "I think it's great in hotels to take your shoes off. A hotel is home!"

A CBS TV publicist was biting his nails to his shoulder blade. He hoped to show that this was a normal youngster who was to appear in "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis."

Tuesday was about as normal as Khrushchev.

Romping over to turn on the radio, she exclaimed her amazement that she'd been called a beatnik.

"A beatnik in anybody's mind is a phony wandering around publicizing his poverty. If I put on an act, and became very affected, very guarded, I'd be a phony—I might be a beatnik. Beatniks are 27 or 28; they've failed in life."

"I," she decided — galloping across to turn on the TV which was to show a four-year-old movie she was in ("Rock, Rock, Rock")—"am not old enough to be a beatnik."

"I'm part of young people. I have very ambulatory thoughts as to what I am and why. I don't really care. I just am."

I mentioned a report she'd scandalized Hollywood by removing her shoes on a TV show.

"I didn't take them off!" she shot back. "They weren't on to begin with."

Tuesday is known as "Baby Sex" in Hollywood.

"Do you have any romantic interests here?" I asked Tuesday—who's been dated by John Ireland. She flung back, "Wouldn't do me much good if I did have!"

It was lunch time. Tuesday wasn't going to have anything. Then she decided to have prune juice, "a few slices of juicy roast beef, ice cream, oh, and lots of honey, and lemon, and tea."

They invited me to stay. I told them I had a date with an old lady I call my B. W. She is much more my velocity.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ... I asked Ingrid Bergman how she feels about "The Turn of the Screw" TV show which she's rehearsing here while waiting for Lars Schmidt to arrive. She sighed, "They tell me that in three weeks it will be over with" ...

Record star Betty Madigan's a smash hit in the beautiful new Irving Berlin Evening at the Pierre with Russel Nype and Larry Douglas. (Irving Berlin was born in Temun Russia, in 1888!) ... Dolores Dorn - Heft, Franchot Tone's ex, landed the lead in "Strawberry Blonde" which Rhonda Fleming, Arlene Dahl, Terry Moore, Dina Merrill and Roxanne Arlen were mentioned for.

Big B'way game now is "Bet you can't spell Khrushchev" (remember the 3 h's) ... Harry Truman urged friends to attend the NonPartisan testimonial for his former sec'y, Matthew J. Connelly in Boston Saturday (speakers include Cardinal Cushing; Geo. Jessel, m.c.) ... Waldorf was on anxious seat all week wondering whether to send vodka or scotch to Mr. K's suite ... Bob Hope, invited to K's reception in Hollywood, says jokingly it'll be catered by Mike Romanoff, and adds: "I'll go—but I won't eat."

Princess Beatrice sat alongside Hope Hampton at El Morocco and Hope said, "I liked her well scrubbed, tubbed, fed look; these toothpick figures are getting ridiculous" ... Mrs. K saw "Muhlik Man" with Ambassador Lodge ... Is D. J. Wm. B. Williams engaged to Dottie Mack? ... Rex Harrison's resting in Zurich ... The luxurious new Malmaison is so continental that bossman Frank Di Lello changed his name to Francesco ... Geo. De Witt took Sacha Distel, Bardot's ex-beau, as his protegee; predicts he'll be a smash hit here soon.

Corinne Calvet and Jeff Stone settled the divorce terms; he withdrew the cross-complaint ... Tony Martin canceled a big cafe date to stand by when Cyd Charisse does a TV spec.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A visitor just back from H'wood said that he found it dull, not there: "There's nothing to do but go to weddings."

(Distributed 1959, by The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Something Different

Hollywood — Darryl Zanuck tells me he has "something entirely different" for his new movie, "A Crack in the Mirror," is three stars — Orsen Wells, Juliette Greco and Brad Dillman — will all play dual roles. But here's the switch: they won't play twins, they won't even play look-alikes, but each will play two entirely different personalities.

And Darryl says the makeup for each player in his cop-robbers yarn is so different for each part that you won't be able to tell the difference. I said "It sounds like a new way of saving money." He replied, "Not at all. It's just that we've got to keep thinking up new ways to get our customers back in the theatres and away from those blankety-blank TV sets."

SEVERAL SEQUENCES of "On the Beach" show Tony Perkins providing other actors with "suicide pills," so that they won't have to suffer slow death from atomic fallout. Patricia Medina saw the picture and said, "It made me SAD, especially when Tony started passing out the HAPPY pills!"

The Catholic Women's Clubs national convention, slated for Las Vegas, registered their disapproval of all the nude shows in the desert spa by switching their reservations to hotels that feature only non-nude shows, such as the Sands and Sahara.

Diahann Carroll sang a song at the Cloister especially for Hal Hayes's date (who is also Hal's ex-fiancee), Zsa Zsa Gabor: "I'm Shopping Around for a Man."

FILTERED from the "front office" of a studio boss: "My son reports here for work Monday so start him at the bottom and gradually work him up so that he's ready to step into my shoes by lunchtime."

No one has come out with the real reason for the Sunset Strip battle between Errol Flynn's ex-wife Nora Haynes and his bride-to-be, Beverly Aadland. It started when Nora heckled Errol for neglecting their daughters Desirée, 15, and Rory, 13. Beverly rushed to Errol's defense, Nora squared off to belt her on the jaw, and Beverly prevented the punch by throwing the contents of her glass (Scotch and water) smack into Nora's kisser. Flynn sat in his car laughing at them.

PAT O'BRIEN, when the Scotch started flyin' "Watch it, men—the leprechauns are crawlin' out o' the woodwork!" ... Mickey Rooney shouted, "Okay, all you tourists, the bus for Beverly Hills and the beaches is leaving right now!" ... Deider: "Please promise me, daddy, that you won't drink so much." ... Errol: "I won't promise that, my dear, but I will grow my mustache back."

Beverly to your reporter: "Yes, I'll marry him after Pat Wymore divorces him but in the meantime Errol is paying me $5 a week to tell all newspaper reporters we'll NEVER get married!" ... It was Nora, however, who got in the punchline to the punchy party when Errol asked her to make a speech to the guests about how happy their married life was. Said Nora: "We were divinely happy — we lived apart" ... Need I add it was a swin' party!!!!

CHANNEL CHATTER — Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin will join in singing this very apropos song on Der Bingle's first spec of the season: "We're Too Neat to Be Beat-niks" ... Bing's brother Bob finally came through with this telegram of congratulations on the arrival of the Groaner's first daughter, Mary Frances: "Am an expert on girls. Call me if you need me."

Bob Cummings' TV rating may not be so hot but that doesn't mean he's not an astute business man, as of yore. He just turned down an offer to play the role of the villain in "Platinum High School"—for a mere (in Moviedom terms) $35,000! Bob can make twice that amount in a week of personal appearances.

STEVE ALLEN stopped in at the Crescendo to talk to the top-liner, Errol Garner, about appearing on his show. Steve said Errol's billing (if he accepts) will be: "The Man for Whom the Piano Was Invented."

Tony Randall's definition of complete frustration: "It's being a fan of the Los Angeles Dodgers!"

Speaking of making money on p. a. tours, Hugh O'Brian got $15,000 for a one-night stand at the San Jose (Calif.) Fair last Sunday (Sept. 20), then flew to St. Louis to star at a Cerebral Palsy benefit for nothing.

Eve Arden, that fine song-&-dance comedienne who should have another Our Miss Brooks-type TV show cooking instead of dramatics as in "Anatomy of a Murder" will show why Hollywood beckoned her after her hit on Broadway in the late Gertrude Lawrence's musical, "Lady in the Dark." Eve will do a new nightclub act at the Sahara in Las Vegas.

P. S. Juniors in Attendance at Work Shop

Musical selections were sung by Mrs. Robert Ollerion of Hemet, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Howard of Hemet.

Attending from Palm Springs Juniors were: Mrs. Jack Koehler, Mrs. Ralph Thomas, Mrs. Charles Schwenck, Senior Coordinator, and Mrs. Thomas Bergin, Junior Coordinator.

Better Living Conclave Mrs. Alchian to Attend

When the third Annual Congress on Better Living convenes twice within the next ten months, Palm Springs will be represented by Mrs. Vahan Alchian of 2223 Araby Drive.

In October, 1,500 women delegates throughout the country will meet in groups of ten in 150 cities to discuss the whole area of family interests — from home construction to food preparation, as well as women's fashions, health and beauty aids and child care.

The meeting for this area will be held at Briargate Lodge in Banning on October 5th.

During the first week of May, 1960, 100 delegates especially chosen from the October meeting will convene for the traditional three-day Congress on Better Living in Washington, D. C., for a closer focus on the subject of home life.

The "Congress," sponsored for the third consecutive year by McCall's magazine, is a direct outgrowth of the government-sponsored "Women's Congress on Housing" founded in 1956 by the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency.

This year's October Congress will be expanded to include sessions conducted simultaneously throughout the nation. In effect, roundtables of ten local women delegates each will be in session in 150 different cities at the same time, discussing what women like and dislike about today's houses and home products.

The sessions in each city will be moderated by delegates who previously attended the Congress on Better Living in Washington. Each moderator will preside over a group of ten local delegates selected by the editors of McCall's for their knowledge and interest in homemaking.

Findings of both the October and May Congress on Better Living will serve, as in the past, as an important information source to the editors, and to manufacturers in the home building, home equipment, fashion, food, and beauty fields, as well as a means of determining trends in the physical and emotional aspects of living.

In announcing the plans for the 1959 Congress on Better Living, Herbert R. Mayes, McCall's editor, said, "McCall's Congress on Better Living has been so successful in the past three years that we are expanding the program this fall — both in scope and number of delegates — by staging local Congresses in major cities throughout the country to allow more home-conscious women to participate and to allow us a broader forum to work with. In May, 1960, we will again return to Washington, D. C., with home-maker delegates from every state in the Union for McCall's annual 3-day meeting. At both Congresses in October and May we will cover all the aspects of the physical home — the house, its furnishings and its finances. However, this year we are including all areas of home life that are of interest to our readers — fashions, cosmetics, food, child care and medical aids."

Don't Make a Clean Sweep, Adapt Your Wardrobe to Fall

While there are "strings of new enchanters to buy," there's no need to toss out every hanger's worth of clothing you own and start all over, according to the September 15th issue of Vogue magazine. The magazine lists ten quick ways to use the fashion news in America, including "touches": — telling changes to make in the way you wear the clothes you now own — and minor "revivers" to buy while weighing the advantages of big investments.

"The point — both ways — is lift," the editors say, "that surge of fashion euphoria that puts an extra crisp on autumn."

Here are a few of Vogue's suggestions:

—Check the length of every skirt you have on file. With the new Dior authority, skirts can be — for the young and leggy — shorter than ever. In any case, it seems unnecessary to wear them in America more than two inches below the knee. As always, however, the full-length mirror is the final test.

—When it's time for an end-of-summer coiffure change the word is smoother and taller.

—Count the trees that hold brown shoes: a better catalyst than the brown shoe is hard to find. Black, blue, red, and putty walk out with it triumphantly.

—If coat is not on your list, think again: the one-coat wardrobe vanished with untaxed incomes.

—When tweed is the nature of your suit, the newest kind of hat to wear is a hat of the very same tweed. Inquire about fabric when you buy the suit.

—A new set of wide belts to wear with practically everything compares favorably with gravity. First assignments: pinch-hitting for boring little self-belts.

—Jewels are massed or massive — cut-crystal chokers stacked chin-high; really enormous earrings worn sometimes with no necklace at all; enormous pins.

Palm Springs Debs Will Be Selected Saturday

First big event of the school year, for girls in the right age bracket, is the selection of the Palm Springs Debs, and interest is at its peak right now as the selection will be made Saturday morning. The 30 girls chosen for this photogenic group may well find this the most wonderful year of their lives for cameras will focus on them and their pretty faces will carry the Palm Springs story across the land in newspapers and national magazines.

Tryouts for the Palm Springs Debs will be held on Saturday, September 26, at 10 a. m. in the Palm Springs High School auditorium, and this will be the one and only opportunity for girls to be chosen for this season's debs.

All junior and senior high school girls from Palm Springs High School and Palm Valley School are invited to try out for the Palm Springs Debs, an organization created by the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce in 1955 and consisting of 30 young ladies who volunteer their services, working in conjunction with the Chamber's publicity department.

Selection committee to choose the Palm Springs Debs for the 1959-60 season will be comprised of photographer Bill Anderson; Mrs. Chester Cohagan, who was nationally known as Dorothy Preble when she headed a modeling school and agency in Los Angeles; artist Earl Cordrey; Barbara Foster, a top model as well as a teacher of charm and modeling; Gote Kent, co-director of the local Arthur Murray School of Dancing; and Joan McManus, social director of the Tennis Club, it was announced today by the Debs' honorary advisor Hildy Crawford.

In previous years, Debs were chosen from photographs. However, this year those competing will be judged in person, and the event is open to the public.

Overall attractiveness, figure, posture, carriage, personality and poise are the features on which Palm Springs Debs will be selected; and girls competing on Saturday morning are requested to bring bathing suits and high-heeled shoes.

Activities of the Palm Springs Debs include photographic modeling, which results in their pictures appearing in top magazines and newspapers around the nation; occasionally modeling in fashion shows, welcoming celebrities and dignitaries to the Village, participating in building dedications, entering parades, and a myriad of other activities related to fun-filled events in Palm Springs, such as the annual Rodeo and Desert Circus.

The Palm Springs Debs have their own by-laws, and voted that any remuneration for their work should go into a common fund which is given to some local charity. Last year the money was presented to the Community Chest.

Recognizing the contribution made by the Debs, a sponsoring group of six women is chosen each year to serve as Patronesses, who last year arranged an early season tea for Debs and their mothers, held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Austin; the formal Deb Ball at the Desert Inn, when each girl was presented by her father and received her Deb pin (Mrs. Arthur Coffey was Ball chairman); and an end of school swim party at Lynne Jennings' Continental, honoring new officers and graduates. The other three patronesses, in addition to Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Jennings, were Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. Elizabeth McGee and Mrs. Georgina Poston. Names of the 1959-60 Patronesses will be announced shortly.

Cathedral City

Linda Marks, who makes her home with Edward and Flora Park, owners of the Cottage Cafe, celebrated her first birthday in America Saturday with a decorated cake, ice cream and the "Happy Birthday" wishes of her new found friends. Linda came to Cathedral City the early part of June from her home in Mannheim, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Petham and children Nancy and Billy returned a few weeks ago from two and a half months visiting in the Catskill Mountains, New York, and Connecticut. They drove and arrived here in time for Nancy to start her first day in Kindergarten at Cathedral School.

Last week Bill Schwartz started the thirteenth season of his barber shop on Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz enjoyed a ten-week vacation in Garden Grove. They visited in Balboa and Newport and took in Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm during their summer away from the desert.

Ben Scott, of Scotts Desert Wear, returned Sunday from a combined business and pleasure trip to Phoenix, Flagstaff and Tucson, Ariz. He was a houseguest at the home of his son and family Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Scott in Phoenix.

Angie Shirley resumed her duties at the Postoffice this week after an interesting three week vacation in Mexico City. Daughter Carol accompanied her mother on the flying trip to Mexico and remained in the colorful city for a few more weeks.

Fire Escape
CLEVELAND (UPI) — A new, light-weight, all-metal portable fire escape can be handled by a child. It is strong enough to hold an entire family at once. Invented by Louis Davis, it has been endorsed by fire chiefs and school officials.

The ladder (Wind-O-Scape) is available in 14 and 24-foot lengths. It comes packaged in a cardboard box for placement under a window. If fire breaks out, the resident merely hauls out the ladder, drops the anchor over the sill and tosses the ladder out the window.

It took archaeologists eight years to extract all the fabulously rich contents from the tomb of King Tutankhamen after it was discovered in Egypt in 1922.

Brown Raps Injustice in State Courts

Delays in Trials
Held Inexcusable
By Governor

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown called on the State Bar and California Jurors today to heed "the sharply rising need to improve the administration of justice in our state courts."

Speaking at a joint meeting of the legal groups, Brown cited as a major need the overhauling of legal machinery for determining automobile accident claims.

"WE MUST CUT down the mounting toll of death and injury on our highways," he said. "But just as importantly, injustice and its ally, delay, must be eliminated. Do, too, must their by-product, court congestion."

Brown suggested that a solution might be the handling of accident claims by a commission instead of by courts. This proposal is already under study.

IN AN EXECUTIVE session of the Conference of Judges, a long standing feud over equitable representation of municipal and superior judges on the Executive Board of the conference erupted into harsh words.

At one point, the debate became so heated that San Francisco Municipal Judge Albert A. Alexrod said the lower court judges might secede and form their own organization unless the situation improves.

Later he asked that his remarks be stricken from the record. The municipal judges complained that they were outnumbered on the Executive Board.

Justice W. Turney Fox of the 2nd District Court of Appeals finally proposed that a committee be established to study equitable representation and to recommend possible reorganization to the Executive Board.

BY SUCCESSION, Superior Judge Ralph Hoyt of Alameda County became the conference president for next year, succeeding Superior Judge Libburn Gibson of Mendocino County.

Other new officers are Appellate Judge Murray Draper, first vice president; Superior Judge Clark Stephens of Los Angeles, second vice president; Superior Judge John Shea of Orange County, third vice president, and Municipal Judge Vernon W. Hunt, of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

RED SECURITY AGENTS NEED TO WATCH STEP IN WOODS

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

The Russian security agents being stationed at nearby Camp David for the weekend meeting between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev would be well advised to take care if they feel like walking in the woods.

Patrolling the perimeter of the highly guarded camp are some snappish members of the K-9 corps, trained sentry dogs who're friendly only to the Marines who handle them.

CAMP DAVID IS a Navy establishment and a small complement of sailors and Marines are stationed there the year around. For their benefit, the U.S. government has one mysterious piece of armed services equipment that may stop Khrushchev's claims that Russia has everything.

In fact, this piece of equipment

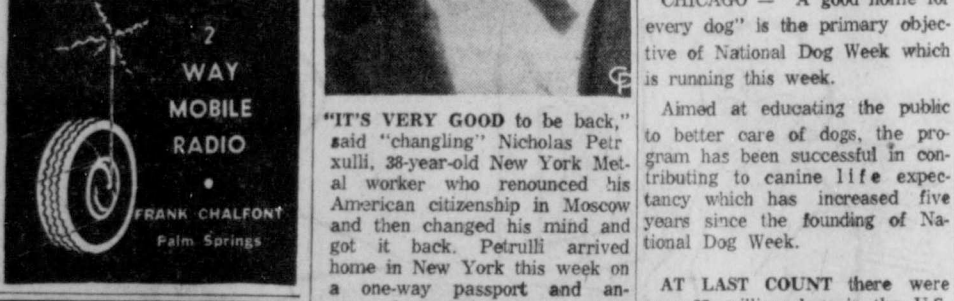

PARENTS PLEA FOR CHILDREN MAY SUCCEED

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Paulus Leonas, Chicago, came to Des Moines to intercede with Nikita Khrushchev on behalf of their children—and apparently succeeded today.

The Leonas are native Russians and they told the Premier in a conversation outside a Des Moines hotel this morning that their two children still are in Russia and want to come to the United States.

Khrushchev listened intently to their plea, shook hands with both warmly and promised action. He turned to Andrei Gromyko who was standing nearby and said:

"Take care of this."

HOME FOR EVERY DOG IS WEEK'S AIM

CHICAGO — "A good home for every dog" is the primary objective of National Dog Week which is running this week.

Aimed at educating the public to better care of dogs, the program has been successful in contributing to canine life expectancy which has increased five years since the founding of National Dog Week.

AT LAST COUNT there were over 25 million dogs in the U.S. and they are increasing at the rate of 800,000 a year. City pounds and kennels are crowded with orphan pups that would make wonderful pets. If you haven't a dog of your own to love and care for, consider adopting one for the fun and companionship a pet brings into a home.

Here are some suggestions to help you provide a good home for your dog:

—LEARN SOMETHING about the breed of dog you own. Read books, talk with kennel owners, go to a dog show. You may be surprised to find your dog's ancestors were hunters or working dogs. And you will gain a good deal of insight into your dog's personality.

—Read the pet columns in your favorite newspapers and magazines for up-to-the minute information on the care and feeding of your dog.

—BUILD A HOBBY around your dog. Obedience training is an interesting and practical activity. Your dog will be a better companion and more welcome neighbor if he is taught "good manners." If you are interested in photography, learn the tricks of photographing animals. Join a pet club. Participate in dog shows and field trials. If your dog has some retrieving blood in him, take him hunting.

—Learn the proper procedures for feeding, grooming, exercising and training your dog. Watch his health. Get to know a good veterinarian in your neighborhood, a valuable contact when your pet isn't feeling up to par.

—Above all, love your dog. Psychologists say that dogs, like people, have a real need for affection.

U.S. to Halt Interceptor Development

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department apparently has decided to halt further development of interceptor airplanes and stake America's future air defense entirely on guided missiles.

Barring any last-minute change, the Air Force shortly will cancel the contract of North American Aviation, Inc., to develop the long-heralded 2,000-mile-an-hour F108 jet interceptor.

MORE THAN 150 million dollars has been invested in the project to date and another 50 million dollars may be required before the contract is finally terminated.

The experimental model of the F108, the only new type of interceptor presently under development, was due to fly next year. Squadrons were expected to be in service in the North American Air Defense Command in about three years.

Dear Abby... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: What can you do with a husband who won't eat anything but meat and potatoes? I've been married for three years and that's all I've cooked. My husband refuses to try anything new. He says he doesn't like it before he's even tried it. So, naturally, I've lost all interest in cooking.

I'm ready to call it quits. How do other women solve this problem? Or am I fighting a losing battle?

MARY LOUISE
DEAR MARY LOUISE: Some women don't know when they're well off. Don't complain because your husband is too EASY to please. Just get a good cook book and discover the variety of exciting things you can do with meat 'n' potatoes. When hubby comes home, he'll always know WHAT'S cooking — but not HOW.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the woman who was afraid to let her aging father drive the car, but he insisted on driving anyway. Report this matter to your local State Drivers License Division. They will send him a notice to appear for reexamination.

tion for his driver's permit. Before they grant him a renewal, he will have to be checked by his physician and a report sent them. They continue a yearly check-up on a driver so reported.

My husband is 18 years older than I am, and I'm no spring chicken. His vision was poor, and his hearing was worse and he drove like a madman. Every time I asked him to let me drive, he'd get furious. I reported him and they wouldn't renew his license. The nice part of this whole thing is that the person involved never knows who reported him. I don't know about the other States, but it works in California.

"L. A. LIZZIE"

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl and thanks to my wonderful parents and religious training I've earned a good reputation.

Abby, honestly, I was brought up to believe that girls who let boys "paw" them were the losers. Please don't tell me that boys do not marry this kind of girl because I have been going to quite a few weddings lately.

I just broke off with a boy. The reason? He got tired of an occasional kiss. When I refused to give him more, he called me a "prude" and said, "No guy wants a cold fish." He is the third boy I broke up with for this reason. Is there no reward for being good?

PROUD PRUDE
DEAR PROUD: (And you have something to be proud of!) The reward for "being good" is a clear conscience and an enviable reputation. The cornerstone of a solid marriage is mutual respect. If you lose a boy because you refuse to give in to his selfish desires — you haven't lost much. Just keep on doin' what you're doin'!

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and try to do the right thing. My retired Grandpa, who lives with us, is always asking me to play cards with him. Just him and me. He gets very mad and hollers at me. I decided that I will not play with him any more, then my mother says, "Play Grandpa a game or two as he has nothing else to do." So I do. But the same thing happens again. I win and he gets mad.

My father says for me to let Grandpa win once in a while. I refuse to do this because it is cheating. Am I wrong or not?

REFUSE TO CHEAT
DEAR REFUSE: Cheating to win is morally wrong. Playing to let the other fellow win is morally acceptable when the other fellow is a retired Grandpa who loves to play and hates to lose.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MID-YEAR GRAD: Date others. Your architect sounds like he has plans of his own.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Who created the idea that went into the message that sent the reader out of the house to buy?

The chances are that one of the country's 3,000 skilled advertising agencies thought up, wrote, designed and placed the newspaper ad that sent this lady out to buy.

Last year agencies and other advertisers in the U. S. and Canada placed over $10 billion worth of advertising in newspapers, magazines, radio, television and outdoor advertising. The largest amount, by far, was invested in daily newspapers.

In a relatively few years agencies have helped to make thousands of products household words. And, from the start, agencies and newspapers have worked closely to bring news of products and services to you.

Most agencies, like the clients they serve so well, recognize the daily newspaper as the most effective advertising medium to introduce and maintain any product on the market.

THUNDERBIRD COUNTRY CLUB, Palm Springs area's oldest and first 18-hole championship golf facility, set the pace for the golf development in the Winter Golf Capital of the World. The course was started in 1941 as a dude ranch, and some ten years later was changed to a golf facility. (Gayle Photo).

"WINTER GOLF CAPITAL OF THE WORLD"

Thunderbird Pioneers Championship Golf

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on Palm Springs area golf courses. Written, compiled and edited by The Desert Sun sports staff, the articles are dedicated to a better understanding of the golf facilities in the Winter Golf Capital of the World. Editor.)

By FRED C. WEIGEL
Almost twenty years ago Joe Edy of San Francisco bought some land and, with the help of Frank Bogert, started a dude ranch. Not having sufficient funds, the two men took four other men into the organization, William Jason, Bill Jones, Bill Gilman, and Paul Jones, and their actions were to change their entire aspect of desert resort life.

Ten years after the start of the Dude Ranch, well-known local golfer Johnny Dawson, first president of Thunderbird Country Club, put financing together and broke ground for the desert area's first 18-hole championship golf course, a move which during the following 10 years was to be followed by almost a dozen other courses to make Palm Springs desert resort area the Winter Golf Capital of the World.

THUNDERBIRD COUNTRY Club was started in 1951 and Frank Bogert was manager. The club comprised some 720 acres, 250 of which has been turned into rolling green fairways and putting greens.

Five years ago Edgar (more happily responsive to Ed) Schill became manager of the course, and already Palm Springs was an entertaining thousands of tourists on its area golf facilities, but Thunderbird was becoming a focal point for a nationally known tournament — the famed Thunderbird $15,000 Pro-Am.

BECAUSE OF ITS increasing size each year, today the famed Pro-Am has been done away with, and has been made the new $100,000 Desert Classic.

Thunderbird today is a complete golfing facility, boasting a driving range, putting green, complete professional shop, cocktail lounge, snack-bar, both public and private dining rooms, a complete shoe shop, and swimming pool.

Thunderbird has a 18-hole, 71 par, 6680 yard course, and the longest fairway is 539 yards — a 6-par number 15. The shortest is 130 yards — 3 par number 8.

ALONG THE FAIRWAYS of Thunderbird are some of the most beautiful homes constructed in the Desert area. Today there are 75 homes built, belonging to such business and entertainment leaders as Hoagy Carmichael, Phil

Harris, George Cameron Jr., J. Ross Clark, Fred Karlan, Leonard Firestone, Ernie Breech and Ken Hayes.

Thunderbird is operated by a board of directors which includes: Eric Stainton, president; Robert McCulloch, vice president; Leonard K. Firestone, vice president; Paul Reynolds, treasurer; Roy W. Colegate, secretary; and Edgar Schill, assistant secretary.

DIRECTORS INCLUDE: (One year terms) Frank J. Bender, Joseph Dyer, Kent Hayes, Mel Gray, and Robert Kenaston; (Two-year terms) Frank Hoy, W. Clarke Swanson, Leonard Firestone, Maynard Laswell, and James Garibaldi; (Three-year term) Eric Stainton, Ben Shearer, Robert McCulloch, George Wright, and Paul Reynolds.

The club is managed by 55-year-old Ed Schill who sees that members and guests get "just what they need" when staying at Palm Springs oldest golf facility.

AHEAD OF THE Board of Directors and the membership are plans to make Thunderbird even greater. Plans have been drawn, and a vote of the membership will soon be taken, to determine whether Thunderbird will start ahead with a $400,000 new clubhouse building.

Included in the new program is one of the first locker-lounge facilities ever attempted in the des-

UNDER SCHILL and in the background of the operation of Thunderbird Country Club are a group of people who play an important part in the service to club members.

These people include: secretary to the manager Edna Billings; room reservation clerk Clare Parker; secretary Jeanette Parker; switchboard operator Mary Blair; Chef Edward Tarza; and this year a new Matre d' Hotel Albert Leggett.

Other personnel includes club pro Claude Harmon, starter Roy Sanders, bar manager Jimmy McDermott, golf course superintendent James Kilpatrick, superintendent of maintenance Carroll Davies, and golf cart manager Bobby Thomas.

THUNDERBIRD COUNTRY CLUB — 1951, construction had been well underway on the first clubhouse, and greens superintendents were building fairways, turning barren desert land into a carpet of green. The above photo was taken from the drive into the course, a drive which now is paved and landscaped in a park-like atmosphere. New development is expected to get underway by next summer to increase the club's luxurious facilities. (Gayle Photo).

Dodgers Move Back Into Tie for First Place in NL

Craig is Hero for Winners

By MILTON RICHMAN .. United Press International

It's all tied up again, but don't go away—someone's gotta win that National League pennant soon.

Forget about those first 151 games and keep an eye on the next three. They should settle something.

The battling Dodgers knotted up the whole business again when they climbed into a first-place tie with the Braves by blanking the Cardinals, 3-0. Milwaukee lost sole possession of the league lead by bowing to Pittsburgh, 5-4.

And the stumbling Giants practically bowed out with a 9-8 loss to the Cubs in 10 innings. It was the slumping San Franciscans' fifth straight defeat and it put them two games behind both the Dodgers and Braves.

EACH OF THE THREE contenders has three games remaining. The odds are still with the Braves, first because they play their last three games at home and second, because the games are with the last-place Phillies. The Dodgers play their last three at Chicago, and the Giants their final three at St. Louis.

Roger (Skinny) Craig was the man who pitched Los Angeles up to the top rung with Milwaukee. He limited the Cardinals to five hits last night for his 10th victory in 15 decisions.

Bob Skinner and Ronnie Kline of the Pirates put the brakes on the Braves, who had won 13 out of 16 before Tuesday night. Skinner's single in the eighth off loser Joey Jay broke a 4-4 tie and Kline stopped Milwaukee on six hits during the eighth innings he toiled to gain his 11th victory. The Braves got one more hit off Elroy Face in the ninth.

CAL NEEMAN took care of the Giants when he belted a two-out, 10th inning homer for the Cubs off rookie Eddie Fisher. To give you an idea how things were going, Fisher was the seventh Giant pitcher.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia were idle. Over in the American League, where the White Sox already have clinched the pennant, they enjoyed a day of rest along with the second-place Indians. In the three games played, the Yankees beat the Senators, 5-4; the Red Sox downed the Orioles, 4-0, and the Athletics defeated the Tigers, 7-6. The Yankee victory guaranteed them at least a tie for third place and it was recorded by rookie John Gabler in relief.

Ballagh Picks Team From Smallest Squad

(This is the sixth and final article in the series on football teams in the new Desert Valley League. It deals with Coach Clare Ballagh's Palm Springs High Indians who are rated to finish high in the standings.)

Enthusiasm over practice sessions could possibly spark the Palm Springs Indians into a top performance tomorrow night when they meet Calexico High in the first practice game of the school 1959 football schedule.

Coach Clare Ballagh, who with Assistant Coach Don Smith, have worked right on the line with the players, had to choose his starting lineup from a roster of only 29 boys, the smallest number of players ever to turn out for High School football in Palm Springs.

BUT THE TEAM is sparked by some good players, who on the practice field are showing real promise in preparation for the new Desert Valley League race.

On the line is Harry Karuzich, the 170 pound right tackle, who will be co-captain of the team, and who is expected to lead the Indian drive.

But not alone. Backing him with the "strong arm" in the backfield is Tony Gomez, the Indian quarterback who in practice can spiral the football into the hands of either one of the top varsity ends — Kelley Coleman or Gus Walton.

TO MAKE A LITTLE confusion on the playing field to the football fan, Coach Ballagh has named on the first string three Waltons, Gus (who is right end), J. C. (right guard), and J. V. (left guard).

Other men on the first team to start tomorrow night includes Jim Garland, left tackle; Weston Naef, co-captain and center; James Hill, right half; Fred Cockerham, fullback; and Bill Smith, left half.

The Indians will use a T-formation, but the lack of real stars on the team might prove to be a disadvantage, so hopes are high that a good pre-season practice will give the team the precision that they need to execute the plays that will carry them to a Desert Valley League championship.

Golden Gate Open Draws Leading Pros

Venturi, Rosburg, Casper, Co-Favorites In $40,000 Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Rough greens and tree-lined fairways were the main hazards as the nation's top shot-makers teed off in the $40,000 Golden Gate Open Golf Tournament today over the public Harding Park Course.

The pre-tourney favorites are home-town hero Ken Venturi; Bob Rosburg, another local lad who won the national PGA championship this year; and Billy Casper, the National Open king-pin from San Diego.

BECAUSE THE HEAVY play on this course the year 'round, most of the greens are hard and lightning fast—and possibly bumpy. It depended upon which pro was talking.

"The greens are in terrible shape," said Rosburg, who learned a lot of his golf on this course. "It's a disgrace."

But Al Beaslink, who had a one-under-par 70 in the pro-amateur tune-up Wednesday, said: "The greens are beautiful. Just wonderful."

However, the greens are rough enough to keep the top shot-makers from leaving the course apart. Mike Souchak, who had a 70 Wednesday, said: "Two under par 69s each day should win it." That would be eight under par for the distance — 276.

Casper agreed that the greens were rough, but wouldn't hazard a guess on what it would take to win the $6,500 pot of gold that goes with first place. Billy Maxwell, the Odessa, Tex., star, thought a 275 should take it; and Beaslink 277. Tommy Bolt said he would settle for four 69s.

Cost of Living Drops in August

WASHINGTON — UPI — The government reported today that living costs declined in August for the first time in six months.

Lower prices for groceries offset increased costs of non-food items to account for the drop.

The Labor Department's consumer price index fell one-tenth of one per cent to 128.8 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

Lawyers, Judges Hold Meetings

SAN FRANCISCO — UPI — More than 2,500 lawyers and several hundred judges from throughout California were attending two major conferences here this week.

The Conference of California Judges opened jointly with the 32nd annual State Bar Convention at the Fairmont Hotel Monday.

There is only one town on earth whose name is "Mars." It is a hamlet of 78 souls in the West German state of North-Rhine-Westphalia.

JAY NORTH, selected to portray "Dennis the Menace," in the new CBS-TV comedy series, get the famous pen and ink character's stamp of approval, as cartoonist Hank Ketcham looks on, Jay, selected for the role following a six-month search, lives in Santa Monica with his mother, and is a descendant of the Scottish poet Robert Burns.

LITTLE JAY NORTH 7, PAID TO ACT JUST LIKE HIMSELF

HOLLYWOOD — "Who'll play Dennis?" This is the question that millions of followers of Hank Ketcham's popular cartoon — including Deseret Sun readers — had hoped would be answered since plan for putting the little tyke on television became known.

IT WAS AFTER a five-month search and 143 auditions that the "real life" Dennis was found in the personage of Jay North, a blond, blue-eyed lad of seven. Minutes after his screen test was shown producer Jim Fonda and Ketcham immediately knew they had found the boy who could literally breathe life into the drawing by character.

"He's it!" Ketcham exclaimed at Screen Gems' studios. "This kid completely captures the personality I patterned after my own little 'menace' eight years ago. He absolutely shows all the characteristics I have created for him."

THE SHOW premieres on CBS-TV Sunday, Oct. 4, at 4:30 p.m. p.s.t.

Just how Jay arrived at the audition is best recalled by his mother. Since she works for the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists, she had heard that a child actor was being sought for the role Her son was not new to television screens but not a familiar face either, although he had been seen on "Queen for a Day," "The Dinah Shore Show," "The Eddie Fisher-George Gobel Show" and on a number of commercials.

State officials in charge of time changes today announced that there'll be no bonus drinking hour for tipplers when the clocks revert to Standard Time at midnight Saturday.

The official timechangers ruled that clocks will be turned back for the general public at 12 midnight — but that doesn't apply to purveyors of alcoholic beverages.

Bars and various alcoholic dispensaries will continue under Daylight Saving Time until 2 a. m. Sunday, at which time they will turn their clocks back one hour.

Since Jay frequently at home acts like the Ketcham cartoon character, his mother suggested he audition for the role. "This was a big mistake," Mrs. North recalls "as he prepared for the part with every Dennis trick he knew until I arrived at the studio with him. If ever anyone played a role before he was cast, my little boy did it."

But no one is happier about the choice of Dennis than Jay himself. During a day's work he goes about the set talking a "blue streak" when he's not on camera. "This is fun," he shouts. "It's better than going to school or getting my lessons. I like it more than watching television or going to the circus."

Villager Wins $25 Award for Santa Picture

Her picture, a color print, was among hundreds submitted in the annual amateur photo competition held at Santa's Village. Each year $700 in cash is awarded to strictly amateur photographers for best snapshots, color prints, color slides and color prints. Honorary mention ribbons also are given in each class.

Judges in the competition were Earl Thiesen and Maurice Terrell, photographers for Look magazine; Edward Taylor, past president of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs; Mrs. Norman Phillips, writer and photographer, and Ron Wilhite, staff photographer for the San Bernardino Sun-Telegram.

Rancho Mirage

By JEAN PATANE

Dr. Jim Ketchersid is back in the desert after an absence of two years. Three years ago he leased his Desertview Animal Clinic on Highway 111 and a year later with Mrs. Ketchersid, daughter Linda Sue and son, Jimmy, moved north to make their home in Santa Rosa. After extensive remodeling Dr. "Jim" reopened Desertview Animal Clinic last Wednesday. Mrs. Ketchersid, who was here during August, returned to Santa Rosa for the beginning of school. When present plans materialize she and the children will join Dr. "Jim."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cady have taken a house at Laguna for the last weeks of summer. Their houseguests over the weekend were Rancho Mirage neighbors Mr. and Mrs. John Vale.

Among the weekend guests enjoying late summer at Casa Verde Apartments were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Lusk of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Nelson, who make their home in San Jose, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Sullivan of Beverly Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Teaze and daughter, Rohde, returned last week from a three month visit to their summer home in Jamestown, R. I., on Naragansett Bay. Rohde, who was a student at Palm Valley School for the past three years, this year started her junior year at Palm Springs High School.

After spending the summer at their beach house at Cardill By The Sea, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boland and children, Donna and Brian, returned to their Casbah Apartment Hotel in time for the children to attend the first day of school. Mid-week guests at the Casbah were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feit of Walnut Creek, whose Rancho Mirage home wasn't yet ready for the season, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cody, former residents who now make their home in Santa Monica.

Tuesday night of last week Mr. and Mrs. Pat Martin and son, Victor, returned from a week at Lake Tahoe. The Martins are managers of El Rancho Hotel and he is the well known golf pro who operates his own golf practice range in Palm Springs.

Postmaster and Mrs. Sidney Greenleaf returned to their Rancho Mirage home after a five week vacation in Oregon and Nevada. They drove north to visit friends in Oregon for a week and then to Hawthorne, Nev., where they spent a month. His brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Greenleaf of Los Angeles joined them for their last week in Hawthorne and accompanied them to the desert. The Cy Greenleafs were scheduled to leave today (Wednesday) for Los Angeles.

Mrs. Phil Franklin (he is manager of the Palm Desert Branch of Bank of America) and children, Mike, Kathy and baby John Stephen, returned from a two weeks vacation at the Country Club Apartments in Phoenix the day before the start of school. Mike entered the seventh grade at Nellie Coffman Junior High. Weekend houseguests at the Franklin home were Mr. and Mrs. Gill Zoehler and daughter, Jill, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cawdrey of Long Beach enjoyed a three day weekend of swimming and relaxing at the San Dial Apartments.

After spending the four summer months at their home in Pinecrest, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Udall returned to their Rancho Mirage home last week for another winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Pitchford returned Sunday from Arrowhead where they spent the summer at their lakefront summer home. Their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitchford (Industrial Designer) joined them for the weekends for boating and water skiing. Bob has won more than 30 trophies for water skiing.

After a summer's end vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Hough, managers of Montecito Apartments, David and Diane Lloyd left last week for college. Diane is attending University of Riverside and David is in his junior year at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

BUYING SURPLUS EQUIPMENT NETS SAVING FOR BOARD

Surplus equipment reaped a new saving for the Palm Springs Unified School District again this week — and even members of the Board of Education were amazed.

The board voted unanimously to approve the payment of $300 for a U. S. Marine Corps refrigeration van — termed a "reefer" in the report.

"I'm glad you explained what a 'reefer' is," said Dr. Bernard Poliak.

"I thought it was slang for a marijuana cigarette."

LIONS TO SEE FILM ON PLANS FOR OLYMPICS

George Preble will be chairman for the day when Palm Springs Lions Club meets tomorrow noon in the Starlite Room of the Chi Chi.

He will present a moving picture, "Westward the Flame," an interesting picture-story covering the plans and preparations for the 1960 Olympic Games.

President Tom Kieley, club president, will preside.

Admiral Burke Says:

U. S. Fleet Could Whip Soviet Subs

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said today the Navy has the power to defeat its Russian counterpart in the event of a nuclear war.

"Right now, we could take them," the Joint Chiefs of Staff member told a news conference before his scheduled AFL-CIO convention address.

BUT BURKE emphasized that modern weapons would virtually destroy both sides in any future conflict "and that's why general war is growing more and more remote."

The admiral said he didn't underestimate the Russian Navy. "He has a good sub fleet," he said. "There's no doubt about that."

SOVIET PREMIER Nikita Khrushchev said Monday in San Francisco that Russia was planning to scrap most of its cruisers in favor of submarines and other weapons. "I'd tell you about our submarine strength but you would say I was bragging," Khrushchev said then.

Burke estimated the Russians have about 450 submarines in operation; the U. S. about 114. Navy officials have said many of Russia's subs are for coastal use instead of open sea duty.

The first message by telegraph — Samuel F.B. Morse's immortal "What Hath God Wrought!" — was transmitted on May 24, 1844, from the Supreme Court room of the U.S. Capitol.
